Influences on Interventions in Group Psychotherapy

Friday, October 28, 2016

12:00 noon to 2:00 pm

hosted by

NewYork-Presbyterian Westchester Division

STURGIS HALL

21 Bloomingdale Road, White Plains, NY 10605

(This is a handicap accessible facility, however, visual and hearing aids will not be provided)

Presenter:

Richard Beck, LCSW, BCD, CGP, FAGPA is on the faculty of Columbia University school of Social Work, New York Presbyterian Hospital and Weill Cornell Medical College. He is a Past President of EGPS and a former co-chair of AGPA community Outreach committee. He currently serves on the Board of Directors of the International Group Psychotherapy and Group Processes, as well as the Chair of the Task Force for Trauma Disaster Management.

Workshop Description:

This didactic, experiential and sharing of experiences workshop will discuss and demonstrate how clinicians of all disciplines metabolize feelings, both theirs and their group members into the fabric of the group. Therapist self-care will be included in both the didactic and experiential component of this workshop.

Learning Objectives:

Participants will be able to:

1. Specify three efficacious interventions in group
2. Describe two ways that feelings can influence groups
3. Note two self-care strategies that would be comfortable and helpful to apply to himself.
